How different was the example The writings of Gen Washington, by Jured Spurks, of which he might be reminded by the gen-tleman near him! (Mr. Draper, President of Prescutt's Conquest of Peru, 2 volumes; the New England Society.) Every one there present knew the melancholy fate of one of his most gallant countrymen, too bold in the pursuit of science. His friends, his countrymen, deplored his loss; all, save an affectionate and ever hope-confiding wife, desaffectionate and ever hope-confiding wife, despaired of his return. Who in that hour of need came to his rescue? I had deemed there was an idea with the state of the state thoughts, I had deemed there was an idea nobler still; that of uniting in some great and common cause, the fame and name of those common cause common c for European supremacy, and which still, in spite of all the blood and treasure prodigally lavished in their conflicts, stand side by side, co-equal in power and renown. I will not speak of the obligations of interest or the ties of blood, because between England and the United States there is a cause such and the United States there is a cause such as I have just described, which ought to bind, New Drug Store. which must bind them indissolubly together -a cause more noble than the obligations of interest, more sacred than the ties of bloodthe cause of a common creed, a common language, a common literature, a common religion. (Tremendous cheering.)

Often has my heart swelled at the eloquence of that great orator and statesman—the pride and ornament of Massachusetts,—when, brought to Fremont or vicinity in language too magnificent for me to attempt to imitate or repeat it, he describes the might and majesty of the British Empire, by saying that there is no quarter of the globe in which, at some hour of the day, the roll of the British Empire, and the roll of the British Empire, and the roll of the British Empire, by saying that there is no quarter of the globe in which, as we are determined that Friends I shall not make the roll of the British Empire, and the roll of the British Empire, by saying that there is no quarter of the globe in which, as we are determined that Friends or repeat it, he describes the might and majesty of the British Empire, by saying that there is no quarter of the globe in which, as we are determined that Friends and Chemicals, and the roll of the British Empire, by saying that there is no quarter of the globe in which, as we are determined that Friends and Chemicals, and the roll of the British Empire, by saying that there is no quarter of the globe in which, as we are determined that Friends and Chemicals, and the roll of the British Empire, by saying that there is no quarter of the globe in which, as we are determined that Friends and Chemicals, and the roll of the British Empire, by saying that there is no quarter of the globe in which, as we are determined that Friends and Chemicals, and the roll of the British Empire, are repeated to call and examine our articles of Drugs and Chemicals, as we are determined that Friends and Chemicals, as we are determined that Friends and Chemicals, as we are determined that the roll of the British Empire in the roll of the British Empire i ish drums may not be heard. But gentleman sensible as I am to the natural pride which this allusion inspires, I deem that there is a glory greater than that which can be painted by any allusion to military array or physical by any allusion to military array or physical power:—The glory of a moral conquest, which must be shared by Britons and Americans, whenever—and the day is not for distant—the works of Prescott and Macauley, of Bancroft and Hallam, of Ticknor and Ford, of James and Cooper, of Irving and Dickens, of Wm. MARRIAGE: WHY SO OFTEN UNHAPPY.

THE CAUSES AND THE REMEDY! MANT and many a wife endures years of bodily suffering and of mental anguish, prestrate and help-iess, embittering her life, that of her bushand, and canarding the fature welfare of her children, arising from causes which, if known, would have spared the suffering, the anguish to the wife, and to the husband embarrassments and pecuniary difficulties hav-ing their origin in the mind being weighed down and harassed in consequence of the sickness of the companion of his bosom.

How important that the causes should be known to every wife, to every husband, that the dreadful and harrowing consequences to the health and hap-piness of both may be avoided! Life is too short and health too precious to admit any portion of the one to be spent without the full enjoyment of the other. The timely possession of a little work entitled as follows has been the means of saving the health and SICKLY AND UNHAPPY WIVES, Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in Daylon, O.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in Daylon, G.

"DR A. M. MAURICAU—My Dear Sir: The Married Woman's Private Medical Companion, for which I enclosed one dollar to your address, came safely to hand. I would not have troubled you with these few lines, but that I am impelled by a sense of gratitude, for myself and wife, to give utterance to our aincere and heartfelt emotions.

"My wife has been perceptibly sinking for some three years or more, in consequence of her great anguish and suffering some mouths before and during confinement; every successive one more and more debilitated and prostrated her, putting her life in imminent danger, and which was, on the last occasion, despaired of. I supposed that this sate of things was inevitable, and resigned myself to meet the worst.
At this time (now about two mouths) I heard your book highly apoken of, as containing some matters reaching my case. On its receipt and perusal, I can not express to you the relief it afforded my distressed mind and the joy its pages imparted to my wife, on learning that the great discovery of M. M. Desomeaux provided a remedy. It opened a prospect to me which I little conceived was possible. No pseuuisry consideration can ever repay the obligations I am under to you for having been the means of im parting to us the matters contained in 'The Married Woman's Private Medical Companion.' But for this, ere another year would have passed over my bead, in all human probability my wife would have been in her grave, and my children left motherless.'

"Lancaster, Pa., Oct. 24, 1847.

"My Dear Sin: I know you will have the kindness to been with me in enconaching upon your time, while I acknowledge (in behalf of myself and wife) the obligations we feel cornelves under to you in having made known certain matters, contained in your most invaluable. Married Woman's Private Medical Companion. It has been worth its weight in gold to me. If I express myself rather warmly, you will see that I can not do so too warmly, when I inform you of the extent to which I have, through it, been benefited. I will state my situation when I obtained your book through the merest curiosity. I look upon it as one of the most fortunate events of my life. I had been married some ten years, and was the father of seven children. I was long struggling unceasingly, to the end that I might gain a moderate competency, but the results of my utmost exertions at the end left me about where I was at the beginning of each year; and that only, with the most sinted economy, sufficing with barely the necessaries of life. Finally, this constant effort was beginning to have its effect upon my health: I felt less capable to endure its continuance, while I felt the necessity of perseverance.

"This constant, unceasing struggle on my part was imperative, in consequence of the prostrated condition of my wife (with occasional intermission) for six years, much of the time confined to her bed, and of course incapable of taking the charge and management of household affairs. Her condition srose from causes of which I was ignorant. Oh! what would I have given had I the six years to live over again! What would my wife bave given to have been appred the long days and still longer nights prostrate on a bed of sickness!—all of which would have been avoided, had I then seen a copy of "THE Marhier Woman's Private Medical. PANGEROUS DELIVERIES. Competence and Health.

From a Physician.

DANGEROUS DELIVERIES, OBSTRUCTIONS, IRREGULARITIES, &C. OBSTRUCTIONS, IRREGULARTIES, &C.

How many are suffering from obstruction or irregularities peculiar to the female system, which undermine their health, the effects of which they are ignorant, and for which their delicacy forbids seeking medical advice! How many suffer from prolapses siteri (falling of the womb), or from floor-allous (weakness, debility, &c. &c.)! How many are in constant agony for many months preceding confinement! How many have difficult if not dangerous deliveries, and whose lives are jeoparded during such time, will find in its pages the means of prevention, amelioration, and relief!

"DR. A. M. MAURICEAU: Had I known of the important matters treated of in. The Married Women's Private Medical Companion's some years ago, how much misery I might have escaped! I have suffered years from causes which you point out in your book, without knowing what to do. I obtained a copy, and found my case treated of. I stast every female will avail herself of the information contained in its pages."

To those yet unmarried, but contemplating marriage, or permys besistations as to the mornety of incurring the responsibilities attendant upon it, the importance of being possessed of the revelations contained in these pages, so intimately involving their fature happiness, can not be appreciated.

It is, of course, impracticable to convey more fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage; neither is it necessary, since it is every one's duty to become possessed of knowledge whereby the sufferings to which a wife, a mothor, or a sister, may be subject, can be obvisited.
